The Loch Inn Website

For my website I created a 4 page layout to cover the requirements of the brief. My first page was the home page that features some brief information about the background of the hotel, some information regarding the general facilities and a link at the bottom to make a reservation at the Inn.

The second page I created outlined the specific facilities that are offered at The Loch Inn and allowed the users to view some images and information about what would be available to them if they were to stay at the hotel.

The third page I created was a form page that allowed the users to fill in a form to create a booking at the hotel by filling in their personal details to make a request and submit the form once all the fields have been filled in correctly.

The fourth page is similar to the third page however it has been modified to be more specific for corporate businesses that may want to book the hotel for conference rooms or meetings.

I have a consistent header throughout the website at the top that displays the page name along with a navigation bar underneath for easy navigation of the website.

I also implemented a footer with contact and site information along with a responsive dark mode layout that is triggered by the user's preferred colour scheme on their specific OS.
